The Daily Press.

HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 16TH 1909.

This is not the first time that an attempt has been made in England to form a "National Party," but at no time has the proposal been made with the prospect of enlisting a larger amount of support than at present, provided the scheme were launched under the right auspices. When Lord Rosebery resigned the Presidency of the Liberal League recently he was publicly appealed to—by the Earl of Wemyss, if we rightly remember—in a letter published in The Times, to lead a National League, and the assurance was given that thousands would rally round his leadership if he would but come forward to lead the movement. So far as we are aware there was no response by Lord Rosebery. From a newspaper report which reached us by a recent mail, we observe that an effort to form such a League has been making quiet progress for the last few months, and on the 21st ult. a great inaugural meeting, in which the Daily Telegraph states "extraordinary interest was manifested by the general public," was held in the Albert Hall, London. The League is to be known as the "John Bull League." Its president and founder is Mr. HENRY BOTTOMLEY, M.P., who certainly has some notoriety, but not of such a kind, one would suppose, as to command a very wide support for any scheme, even of a political character, that owes its origin to his resourcefulness. But Mr. BOTTOMLEY on this occasion offers to the public "a long-felt want," and the public seem eager to accept it. The Albert Hall, in which the inaugural meeting was held, seats twenty thousand people, and nothing proves the wide public interest in the new movement better than the fact that as many as sixty-four thousand applications for tickets of admission were received. It is mentioned that among those present were no fewer than one hundred members of Parliament "of all shades of political opinion." Branches of this League have been started "in all parts of the country, as well as in Scotland and Ireland, and local secretaries of such business standing as accountants, solicitors and occasionally doctors have been appointed for the various districts." The League is described as independent of all sects and political parties, and it has for its aims "the stamping out of cant and self-righteousness, and the introduction of common-sense business methods into the government of the country." A three-column report of the inaugural meeting lies before us, consisting almost entirely of a verbatim report of the address delivered by Mr. BOTTOMLEY. It is an eminently readable address, full of ironic comment on the party system of government, and outlining in forceful phrases the aims of the John Bull League. Regarding His Majesty, the King as "our most valuable national asset and best statesman—and a long way our finest and best," Mr. BOTTOMLEY said the League would never flinch in its unwavering and undiluted loyalty to the Throne of England. His experience in the House of Commons had taught him that a second Chamber was an absolute necessity, but he wanted that Chamber to be partly nominated by the Crown, and equally by the people. He argued that there was nothing in the nature of representative government in England at the present time, and the League aims at the responsibility of government being shared by all good citizens—including women apparently. Mr. BOTTOMLEY gave the following description of the House of Commons:—

It is the omnium gatharum of cranks and faddists—cheerless—of four persons at a time and of professional politicians and scheming lawyers on the other hand. (Loud cheers.) And it is in any odds on the lawyers. (Laughter.) We are a great commercial country, the centre of the world's commerce, and business, and finance, and our Prime Minister is a lawyer! Our Chancellor of the Exchequer is a lawyer. (Loud hisses, followed by rounds of cheers.) If you go on like that (said Mr. Bottomley), you will make the Prime Minister jealous. (Laughter.) Our Secretary for War is a lawyer, our First Lord of the Admiralty is a lawyer, and so is our Irish Secretary. So I could go on almost through the whole Cabinet. (A voice: "What about journalists?") I will come to the journalists next, then. The President of the Board of Trade is a journalist. (Cheers.) You have a journalist to provide over an extraordinary board of officials, of whom—remembering, of course, it has charge of the trade of the country—the Archbishop of Canterbury is one, and all the lawyers I have just mentioned are the others. (Laughter.) But it does not much matter, because the Board has never yet had a meeting. (Laughter.) You may think, perhaps I have exaggerated a little the character of the House of Commons. There is one honourable member, one of the best, dearest, most honest and straightforward of men, who, when he came to the House of Commons, said, in addressing his constituents: "I have always found, in my previous career in the railway cutting and the workshop and the factory that the gospel was the thing to preach, and I am going to the House of Commons to preach the gospel." That sentiment may do his heart credit, but he forgot that the House of Commons is not a mission hall, but the business office of the nation.

It cannot be denied that the House of Commons is lacking in that practical business element which a business country wants, but it is an easy thing to point to the need and a much more difficult matter to supply the remedy. However, Rome was not built in a day, and it will probably take the John Bull League more than a generation to convert the "first club in England" into "the business office of the nation." Meanwhile there is much in the commercial, industrial and financial position of the country at the present time to arrest public interest in this demand for a Parliament in which a sound business policy is preferred to the play of the party politician. Let the nation ask itself why it is that England has not recovered from the depression in trade of a year or two ago, as have Germany, France and the United States. For the first six months of 1909 Germany increased her trade over the first six months of 1908 by £10,000,000 and more; France increased her trade by nearly £13,000,000; the United States increased her trade by nearly £23,000,000, but in the United Kingdom trade was diminished by £17,000,000. In all cases these figures include exports and imports. It would seem, as one authority has expressed it, that the United Kingdom is living upon the accumulated capital of its prosperous past, and moving only by the impetus of industrial domination. The official returns we have quoted form an argument against the present Government which no words are necessary to enforce. Capital, menaced by schemes of socialist legislation, has "galloped abroad," and unemployment appears to be more extensive in the kingdom than ever. A strong argument can certainly be made out for "a business government," but the inaugural meeting of the John Bull League cannot be regarded as the death knell of the party system. The aims of the League will undoubtedly command a large amount of sympathy and support, and if it were only led by a ROSEBERY instead of by a BOTTOMLEY there is little reason to doubt that the League would speedily become a powerful factor in determining the choice of candidates for Parliamentary honours.

The troopship Reusa leaves Hongkong to-day for Home.

The English Mail of the 16th October was delivered in London on the 13th inst.

Rear-Admiral Hubbard has been designated to relieve Admiral Harber in command of the Asiatic Squadron of the U. S. Fleet.

Colonel Dumbleton, R.E., leaves for home to-day by the Rosa. Under his supervision the fortifications of Hongkong have been considerably improved.

The return of communicable diseases in the Colony for the past week shows one Chinese case of diphtheria and three cases of enteric fever—1 Portuguese, 1 British and 1 Parsee.

The total output of the Chinese Engineering and Mining Company's three mines for the week ending 30th October amounted to 23,488.63 tons and the sales during the period to 22,103.90 tons.

Mr. Claude W. Kinder, C.M.G., the recent engineer-in-chief of the Chinese Northern Railways, who retired this last spring, has, with Mrs. Kinder, settled at Fleet, in the north of Hampshire.

A Chinese who had been severely assaulted by a comrade with a chopper that he was not expected to recover was discharged from hospital yesterday. He appeared at the Magistracy to support the prosecution against his assailant, but the case was remanded.

Four men were charged before Mr. Wood at the Magistracy yesterday with keeping a gaming house at 246, Hollywood Road. Thousands of San Piu lottery tickets had been seized by the police in the house, and the four defendants were remanded, bail being fixed at $1,000 each.

One stowaway on board the s.s. Kulsang and two men charged with aiding and abetting were brought up at the Magistracy yesterday. The stowaway was fined $200 with the alternative of six weeks' imprisonment, one of the others was fined $25 and the third was sentenced to six weeks' imprisonment.

Mr. H. T. S. Green, Inspector-General of the International Banking Corporation, who has established the branches at Peking and Hankow, left recently for Europe via the Siberian route. Mr. D. A. de Menocal has arrived in Peking from New York, to take over the management of the Peking branch.

The return of visitors to the City Hall Library and Museum for the week ending the 14th November, 1909, shows that of non-Chinese there were 451 to the Library and 202 to the Museum, and of Chinese 237 to the former and 2,430 to the latter. The Library was, therefore, used by 688 persons and the Museum by 2,632.

A typhoon warning received at the American Consulate-General, Hongkong, from the Manila Observatory at 9.50 a.m. yesterday read:—"Cyclone or Typhoon S.E. of Manila over near Southern Luzon moving W. or W.N.W." At 5.45 p.m. the following message was received:—"Cyclone or typhoon south of Manila, over near Southern Luzon, moving W.N.W."

Chief Excise Officer Hogarth made a large seizure of opium on board the s.s. Germania early yesterday morning. He arrested three men who had in their possession 350 taels of prepared opium. The case was heard before Mr. Wood at the Magistracy yesterday, and the three men pleading guilty were each fined $5.00 with the alternative of three months' imprisonment.

In the Bankruptcy Court, London, an application for discharge has been made by D. W. Hodger and Bruce Hamilton, who had traded as merchants in Cannon-street, E.C., under the style of Thomas Hamilton and Co. The receiving order was made in October, 1908, the liabilities being returned at £30,191, but the trustee estimated the total unsecured indebtedness at £34,994, and reported that, including £4,370 already realised, the assets would produce about £24,620, and that the total dividend was likely to be 2s. in the £. The failure was attributed to heavy losses in China through embroilment by a Chinese employee, and to losses on trading in India and China, and on imported goods. His Honour, Registrar Giffard, suspended the discharge for two years.

PORTUGUESE ROYAL BIRTHDAY.

Yesterday was the twentieth anniversary of the birthday of King Manuel of Portugal, and the occasion was honoured by the warships of different nationality in the harbour dressing ship. Captain Mitchell Taylor, A.D.C. to H.E. the Governor, left yesterday morning on board H.M.S. Handy for Macao to convey Sir Frederick Lugard's congratulations to H.E. the Governor of Macao. Owing to Mr. J. J. Leiria, Consul-General for Portugal, still being confined to his house as the result of a recent accident, the reception at Quat House did not take place, but at night the members of the Club Lusitano celebrated the occasion with a ball, which was largely attended. At noon a royal salute was fired.

TERRIBLE SHIPPING DISASTER.

FRENCH STEAMER SUNK.

SINGAPORE, November 15th.

The Messageries Maritimes mail steamer "La Seyne," from Batavia, and the British India steamer "Onda," from Singapore, collided at four o'clock yesterday morning in the Rho Straits, thirty miles from Singapore.

The "La Seyne" sank like a stone in two minutes, and the boilers burst. Ninety-three persons were drowned, including Captain Canailhoc, Messrs. Bruneau, Gonet, Bocuf, Delacroix, Habi, and Faure, Baron and Baroness Beniczky, Mesdames Barthly Saintange and Desires, thirty-eight of the native crew and about fifty passengers.

Horrible scenes were witnessed, as sharks attacked the people in the water.

The "Onda" stood by and rescued 61. She returned to Singapore with her forepart damaged.

The collision was due to the dark hazy weather.

VICEROY OF INDIA ATTACKED.

BOMBS THROWN AT THE EARL AND COUNTESS OF MINTO.

LONDON, November 15th.

While the Earl and Countess of Minto were driving in a carriage through Ahmedabad, two bombs were hurled at them from the crowd which lined the street. They struck the members of the escort, but failed to explode, although one subsequently exploded, injuring a passer-by who picked it up.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE LORDS.

LONDON, November 15th.

At the Colston Day banquet at Bristol Mr. Winston Churchill said the Lords if they threw out the Finance Bill would pitch into the gutter millions of revenue. The Treasury calculated that the resultant deficit of such action on the part of the Lords would amount to fifty millions sterling. The Liberals were confident of a brilliant victory at the forthcoming election.

PARIS SENSATION.

LONDON, November 15th.

The trial of Madame Steinheil for the murder of her husband and her mother has concluded at Paris. The prisoner was acquitted amid frantic cheering in court.

COLLIERY DISASTER.

LONDON, November 15th.

In the Spring Valley, Illinois, 400 men have been killed by a fire at Colliery Cherry, the rescue having been abandoned.

LATER.

It is officially stated that the number of miners entombed in the Cherry Colliery is 250.

RUSSIA AND JAPAN.

ALLEGED POLITICAL COMPLICATIONS.

LONDON, November 15th.

Mr. Motono, Japanese Ambassador to St. Petersburg, has gone on a short visit to Japan owing to his father being seriously ill.

Rumours that the departure is due to political complications is officially declared to be unfounded.

ANARCHIST OUTRAGE AT BUENOS AYRES.

LONDON, November 15th.

At Buenos Ayres an anarchist threw a bomb at the carriage of the Police Prefect, killing his secretary.

The Anarchist shot himself, but he is expected to recover from his self-inflicted injury.

SOLDIERS SENT TO PRISON.

Two soldiers—Gunner Stewart, R.G.A., and Private Tritton, of "H." Co., Buffs—were brought before Mr. E. R. Hallifax at the Magistracy yesterday each charged with stealing a watch from a jeweller's shop, at 16 Queen's Road East on Saturday night. The evidence was to the effect that the two men entered the shop and asked to look at some watches. Several were shown them by the shopkeeper, one being valued at $25 and the other at $22. The soldiers made some remarks to each other and each slipping a watch into his pocket walked out of the shop. The shopman followed them and as two Indian constables were seen at the corner of Arsenal Street he informed them and they arrested the two soldiers. Defendants offered no excuse for their action, telling his Worship that they wished to raise the wind. Sentence of one month's hard labour was passed on each man.

A SOLDIER'S ESCAPE.

A serious charge of assault was preferred against Gunner Allen, R.G.A., at the Magistracy yesterday. He was accused of having assaulted Mr. Winch, the manager of the Belle View Hotel, so severely that the sight of one of his eyes is likely to be affected, and also with having assaulted the Indian watchman there. It was stated that a disturbance took place at the Hotel about midnight, in which several soldiers were concerned, and when P. S. Pitt, in response to the message received, proceeded there he found the manager with his face and head bleeding and his eyes injured. The Indian watchman said he was assaulted by defendant because he found him in the company of a woman in the grounds, and when the manager went to his assistance he was knocked down and assaulted. Defendant was fined $15 on each charge.

THE TRIAL OF THE "ON LEE."

The trial of the s.s. On Lee, built and engaged by the Hongkong and Whampoa Dock Co., Ltd., for the Sze Yip Steamship Co., took place on Sunday. The vessel was put on a full steam trial of four hours' duration. The weather conditions were favourable. The anchor tests were also carried out successfully. There were present an influential gathering of local gentlemen. The usual toasts being honoured, Mr. Dyer, Chief Manager, in a well-chosen speech proposed success to the Sze Yip Steamship Co. and to the On Lee. Mr. Jun Kai on behalf of the directors and shareholders of the Sze Yip Steamship Co., congratulated the Dock Co. on their success in completing this vessel two months within the contract time, also upon the extra speed attained, and he assured them that if the Sze Yip Co. should decide to build another boat, they would be pleased again to place the order with the Dock Company. He also thanked Mr. Fletcher for so ably looking after the Sze Yip Co.'s interests during the building of the On Lee.

A RIOT AVERTED.

A riot was narrowly averted at Quarry Bay on Saturday, when a number of the Sugar Refinery employees became obstreperous and wished to leave work before the midday interval. On the first occasion, about 11.20, they were stopped by the timekeeper, who ordered them back to their duty. Twenty minutes later they again left their work, but were stopped by the Indian watchman. One of the men wished to argue with the watchman who pushed him. Immediately the man fell down and fainted death. Not all the efforts of the police could induce him to betray any signs of vitality and the police had to send him to the hospital, where he was promptly brought back to life. Meanwhile matters looked threatening at the entrance to the works. At the time the employees should have returned to work they were harangued by some ringleaders, who were anxious to provoke strife, as they were heard addressing the men to strike somebody. However, the police, who had been summoned by telephone, arrived on the scene and arrested three. This, together with the fact that the fire engine was brought out and the hose coupled up ready to play on the mob, which numbered close upon a thousand, had the effect of restoring order, and work was resumed.

THE CIRCUS.

PRISON REFORM.

From time to time news comes of efforts being made to improve the prison system, the present state of which is a disgrace to China. The latest development is that the magistrates of the various districts have been ordered to send in lists setting forth the numbers and ages of persons incarcerated in the gaols under their control. They are also to state the average cost per head for maintenance while in prison and to say if any are suffering from incurable disease. All these returns are to be made within two weeks, and it is said that the teaching of useful employment is to be introduced into the gaols and that a reformatory for youthful offenders is also to be opened.

BRIGANDAGE.

The Luen Kow village in the Shun Tak District is noted for the production of very good silk. This season the silk crop has been more than usually plentiful and the silk factory owners have engaged many watchmen to protect the property. Notwithstanding this, two nights ago a mob of 200 well armed robbers attacked the two most important factories in the village and drove off the watch. They were successful in obtaining much booty and several persons were injured.

A noted bandit called Lo Ah Kwan has just been captured in Shun Tak. This desperado usually confined his attentions to looting villages in Nam Ho, but that place having got too hot to hold him he moved over to Shun Tak. Here, the people were afraid of him, and as an incentive to his capture a reward of $1,000 was offered. Luckily a day or two ago a clue to his whereabouts was obtained and after a severe fight between the police and the bandit's followers the rascal was arrested. At the same time a man named Fung, who has long been wanted, was captured. During the fight one of the police was so badly wounded that his life is despaired of.

SELF-GOVERNMENT SOCIETY.

There have lately been all kinds of absurd rumours relating to a supposed French invasion of Kwongai. The Self-Government Society having wired for news to the seat of the supposed trouble were informed that the whole province was perfectly quiet and that the rumour was entirely false. However, the false news has moved certain patriotic souls to send out circulars to the various schools of the city calling on the students to insist on military drill being included in the course of tuition. The students of the Police College have petitioned the Warrent to allow more time for military drill, and he has acceded to their request. The Self-Government movement is extending to many of the villages, and this week a Society for this purpose has been started in the Chin Lin village. The opening ceremonies were largely attended and many speeches were made. A feature of the meeting was the speaking of two lady students, who insisted on the importance of educating the women of the country. They insisted that girls' schools should be established everywhere, and that there was not much hope of China's progress if its wives and mothers were to be left in the depths of superstition and ignorance.

NEGLECT IN THE TELEPHONE OFFICE.

They are very neglectful in the telephone exchange. It often happens that one has to ring up for several minutes before getting in the wire, and frequently one may ring and ring and get no answer at all. The Chamber of Commerce proposes to alter this state of affairs. Having suffered rather badly lately at the hands of the Telephone people, the Chamber has called the attention of the Viceroy to the matter and the head officer of the telephone bureau has been called upon to put matters right.

TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

The Lung family, residing at Tai Lung in the Shun Tak district, are very wealthy, but they do much for the poor villagers. They have now started a technical school in the place for the benefit of the village youths. The local officer in charge of the development of native industries has been requested to give the school his official sanction.

THE ALLEGED ASSAULT BY EXCEMSEN.

The hearing of the charges against four excemsen of having assaulted two tallymen on board the s.s. Cyclops in August last while searching for opium was resumed before Mr. E. R. Hallifax at the Magistracy yesterday. Mr. H. J. Gedge, of Messrs. Johnson, Stokes and Master, appeared for the complainants, and Mr. Sheiton, from the office of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon, appeared for the defendants.

The case for the prosecution having concluded,

Mr. Sheiton said he would prove that the defendants were assaulted by the complainants and that one of defendants still suffered a disability from that assault. He would call independent witnesses to prove that the defendants had their badges on when they came on board the ship. He would further submit that there were a number of people in the cabin at the time the assault was said to have taken place, and the prosecution had not seen fit to call those witnesses who would have been most material to the case.

The first defendant said all the excemsen wore their badges on the occasion in question. Cross-examined—The head of the party told them to put on their badges while in the sampan. The hearing was again adjourned.

LOCAL SPORT.

FOOTBALL.

BUFFS V. CAMERON HIGHLANDERS.
The largest crowd yet seen at a football match this season, turned out yesterday afternoon to witness the above match. It will be recalled that two years ago, when the "Jocks" visited the Colony, there was then no team to match them, and of course speculation was rife as to the chances of our local League Champions. Only two of the team who then represented the visitors donned the colours yesterday, the others having gone home, and as the Regiment has been split up into companies in North China, they had no little difficulty in getting a representative team together to uphold their footballing reputation. The game in the earlier stages was full of interest and excitement, each goal in its turn being bombarded. A splendid combined effort by the "litties" resulted in a goal being scored by Doolerty. Following up this success McNeil scored two more for the visitors, and half time sounded with the score—Cameron 3, Buffs 0.

In the second half the Buffs showed to more advantage, and managed to score; but never at any part of the game did they compare favourably with the Scotchmen, who eventually won by three goals to one.

DUTCHMEN AT FOOTBALL.

A friendly game of "soccer" will be played on the Club ground at Happy Valley this afternoon commencing at five o'clock between a team from the Dutch Fleet and a mixed team comprised partly of Dutchmen resident in the Colony and of members of the Hongkong Football Club. The following are the names of the local players: Van Ginkel, Van Delden, Hissink, Nikkele, Woutman, Aduett, Garrett, Barlow, Danby, Eager and Whitmarsh.

THE VICE-GOVERNORSHIP OF THE PHILIPPINES.

APPOINTMENT OF A FILIPINO UNDER CONSIDERATION.

A special cable from Washington to the Manila Cablenews says:—The question of appointing a Filipino Vice-Governor of the Philippine Islands to succeed Governor-General Forbes is being discussed in official circles here. President Taft would not talk on the question, when seen by your representative further than to say that the question was being discussed between himself and his advisers. The opinion expressed here is that Commissioner Gregorio Arana will be appointed should the decision of the President turn in favour of a Filipino.

SUPREME COURT.

Monday, 15th November.

IN ORIGINAL JURISDICTION.

BEFORE HIS HONOUR MR. W. REES DAVIES, K.C. (ACTING CHIEF JUSTICE).

THE FLORIDA WATER TRADE MARK CASE.

The case opened in which Edward Kemp and others, trading as Lanman and Kemp, of New York, seek to obtain an injunction against the Kwong Sang Firm, of 245, Des Vaux Road Central, Hongkong, their servants or agents, to restrain them from selling or exposing for sale, or procuring to be sold, any Florida water bearing the label annexed to the claim or any other label so contrived or expressed as by colourable imitation or otherwise, to represent or lead to believe that the Florida water sold by defendants was the Florida water manufactured and sold by plaintiffs.

The trial came on for hearing before his Honour the Acting Chief Justice and a special jury composed of Messrs. D. W. Craddock (foreman), L. Gibbs, G. H. Medhurst, C. J. Lafrenza, A. Shelton Hooper and A. Mackenzie. Mr. M. W. Slade, instructed by Mr. H. W. Looker (of Messrs. Deacon, Looker and Deacon) appeared for the plaintiffs, while the defendants were represented by Sir Henry Berkeley, K.C., and Mr. Eldon Potter, who were instructed by Mr. F. C. Barlow, acting on behalf of Mr. H. K. Holmes.

In the statement of defence the defendants denied that the plaintiffs possessed the right to the exclusive use of that portion of the design which consisted of a floral wreath, or the right to the exclusive use of the words "Florida Water" surrounding the design. The said mark was not used as a trademark in Hongkong by the plaintiffs or their predecessors in the business before August 15th, 1875. They denied infringing the plaintiffs' trademarks, or imitating the get-up of the plaintiffs' goods. The trademark applied by the defendants to the Florida water sold by them was a distinctive trademark, and the plaintiffs had no distinctive right to use such bottles as they did, or such floral wreaths. Defendants denied that the plaintiffs had been damaged, and contended that their competition with the plaintiffs was fair trade competition. Defendants denied that they had sold or passed off any goods not of the plaintiffs' manufacture, and for the plaintiffs' goods.

Mr. Slade, after reading the pleadings, said the action was brought by Messrs. Lanman and Kemp, old established manufacturers of Florida water, against the defendants on two main grounds. One was the infringement of a trademark, and the other the imitation of the get-up of the plaintiffs' Florida water. Exactly copying a trademark was seldom done, but it was just as much an infringement to so nearly imitate a trademark as to produce a mark which was calculated to deceive. To take parts of an old established mark and to make differences which to a wary person might not be immediately perceptible, to enable a dishonest retailer to pass off one article for another was infringement. The law said that a trader might not endeavour to get some of his rival's trade by imitating the get-up of his goods. Lanman and Kemp had been importing Florida water into this Colony since before 1875, and from that date onwards. A criminal charge was brought with regard to these bottles and the jury found a verdict of not guilty. The actual result of that case had no bearing on the present one, but he would make use of certain admissions made in that case by the defendant. It was admitted by them that before they started the manufacture at all, they knew of the plaintiffs' bottles. In this instance, knowing the trademark and bottles, the defendants started to sell Florida water of their manufacture about the year 1905 or 1906 in similar bottles. Counsel produced one of the bottles, which he wished to pass to the jurors.

Sir Henry Berkeley—My friend must not put to the jury now any document or exhibit that may be excluded in the course of the trial.

His Lordship—Do I understand you are going to dispute the right hereafter?

Sir Henry Berkeley—Yes.

Mr. Slade—I am going to prove that the defendants sold Florida water in that particular bottle to a witness I am going to call.

His Lordship—Is that admitted?

Sir Henry Berkeley—No. The action is brought against us for infringing the trademark on the bottle before your Lordship by means of a trademark which will presently be put in by them, which is not the mark on that bottle.

His Lordship—Is not this the alleged infringement?

Sir Henry Berkeley—No, it is not.

Mr. Slade—We claim there are two infringements, first of all by that mark and subsequently by another mark.

Sir Henry Berkeley—Nothing of the kind. An attempt is being made to bolster up a case that must fail.

Mr. Slade—I don't know whether my friend is at liberty to interrupt me in my opening.

Sir Henry Berkeley—You must not open with what you are not going to prove.

Mr. Slade—Will you please allow me, Sir Henry. Don't try to shout me down. The pleadings show that for some time past the defendants have been selling Florida water not of the plaintiffs' manufacture under labels so closely resembling the plaintiffs' trademark as to be calculated to deceive. For some time they sold Florida water under this particular label, and that, we claim, is an infringement of our mark. Subsequently they made certain alterations and sold the water under another mark, which we claim is an infringement.

His Lordship—Is there a strong similarity between the two you object to?

Mr. Slade—A very strong similarity.

His Lordship—If the plaintiffs are going to prove that they purchased this article from the defendants as the defendants' bottle, I don't see how I can exclude it.

Sir Henry Berkeley—If they are entitled to prove it you cannot exclude it, but before they are entitled to prove it they must have a claim in respect of that particular mark.

To properly understand paragraph 3 of the statement of claim, to which his learned friend referred, Counsel informed his Lordship that he must read paragraphs 9 and 10 with it. Plaintiffs complained in the writ of summons that the defendants were infringing their label by using a label which they attached, and they asked that defendants should be restrained from using that label or any other label they might thereafter use which was calculated to deceive. His friend knew perfectly well that the mark he now wished to put to the jury was a mark the defendants had not used since June, 1906, and had in that year only used for a few months.

His Lordship—Was this particular mark in dispute at the criminal trial?

Sir Henry Berkeley—No, it was only brought in in cross-examination to show that we, when we first started, had used a label still more like theirs than the "two girls" mark in respect of which they presented us. The next step the plaintiffs took was to go to the Police Judge for an interim injunction. What they are asking for to-day is a permanent injunction.

Mr. Slade—And damages.

Sir Henry Berkeley—The plaintiffs must be confined to the claim they have made.

Mr. Slade—My friend is extremely irregular in interrupting me, and I strongly object to him reading an affidavit which he cannot put in evidence.

Sir Henry Berkeley—This was in the action when they were asking for an interim injunction. They ought to be confined to the action they have brought against us. If they want to bring an action in connection with any other mark than the one concerned, let them do so and we will meet it.

His Lordship—The point turns, as far as I can see, on the construction of the pleadings themselves.

Mr. Slade—Exactly, and the affidavit in support of the interim injunction will show what was claimed in respect of it. The interim injunction is one thing, and the action for damages and a permanent injunction is another.

Sir Henry Berkeley—I am surprised that my friend should address your Lordship in that way. By an interim injunction they sought to stop us using the "two girls" brand, to-day they are seeking to have an interim injunction made perpetual.

His Lordship—In your statement of claim, Mr. Slade, you do not limit your action to one particular mark, but this interim injunction deals with one mark only.

Mr. Slade—The one mark they were then using.

Sir Henry Berkeley said the plaintiffs used the word "Inch" in the statement of claim, but that word was used in connection with the labels on the bottle. It was clear there were only two labels mentioned in the proceedings, only two labels they were called upon in this action to defend themselves against the use of. He submitted Mr. Slade was not entitled to hand the bottle he wished to the jury. The defendants were not there to answer any other charge than the specific one of having infringed the plaintiffs' "phoenix" and "fountain" labels by the use of defendants' "two girls" brand.

His Lordship—I see, Mr. Slade, in paragraph 8 of the statement of claim that you say the defendants have for some time past been selling.

Mr. Slade—Yes.

His Lordship—That would imply that at the time of the action they were also selling.

Mr. Slade—I beg your Lordship's pardon, but the words are equally good English the other way.

His Lordship—Not if they had ceased to sell. I understood you to say there has been no sale of this particular bottle since 1906.

Mr. Slade—We complain of their earlier infringement and later infringement.

His Lordship—I think it is rather unfortunate that I am called upon to construe a figure of speech in a question of fact.

Mr. Slade—I think it is quite plain. We want proper remedy for the injury they have done us. Suppose they had revived the use of the old label again, the words of the injunction would cover it absolutely.

Sir Henry Berkeley—You could not get an injunction against a thing if it had not been done for two years.

His Lordship—Supposing the user of this mark ceased in 1906 it would be a case of very small damages.

Mr. Slade—But we are not tied to them. The action is brought in respect of both bottles.

Sir Henry Berkeley—We could have paid a farthing into Court if we had any idea such a complaint was being made, and that would probably have been too much. I rely on the words of section 8.

His Lordship—Taking the record as a whole, it certainly appears to me that the action is constructed on the particular mark on which the interim injunction was based. I rule that the damages claimed only apply to the mark or marks in respect of which interim injunction was granted, and in respect of which there is user proved or action brought.

Mr. Slade then applied to amend his statement of claim by adding the word "various" before labels.

Sir Henry Berkeley opposed the application, as it would mean that the plaintiffs could set up an absolutely new case. To patch-work a claim of that kind into the pleadings when he was there to meet a different case altogether would be embarrassing and vexatious, and harassing in the extreme. The sole question at issue was whether or not the "two girls" brand was an infringement of the "fountain" brand.

His Lordship said he did not propose to allow the amendment.

Mr. Slade then proceeded with his address, remarking that he would refer to the bottle which he was not allowed to show the jury as a matter of historical interest. The defendants started manufacturing Florida water in Hongkong some time at the beginning of 1905. When they first manufactured Florida water they adopted this label (Counsel handed label to usher to pass to jury).

Sir Henry Berkeley objected.

Mr. Slade—I am going to show by positive evidence that first of all the defendants used that mark, and when they applied to register it they did not obtain registration. They then made slight alterations and applied again to have it registered, but were again refused. They then got registration of the label of "two girls" only, but proceeded to use the mark for which registration had been refused. That is what I am going to use the label for; to show the deliberate fraud.

Sir Henry Berkeley—That is the point of my objection. The sole question at issue is whether as a fact these marks are so like the plaintiffs' mark as to be calculated to deceive. The question of what the intention was is irrelevant.

His Lordship—If the jury are satisfied as to similarity, the question of intention does not bear upon it. The sole question for the jury is whether deception is probable.

Mr. Slade submitted that the question of passing off, the question of intent, was absolutely material. He would find in all cases of the kind that the history of how the thing came to be imitated was referred to.

His Lordship—Subsequent cases show that intention is quite immaterial.

Mr. Slade—A man may be guilty of infringement although his intention is absolutely innocent; that is the ruling in recent cases. I am going into the history of this mark.

Sir Henry Berkeley—If intent does not matter, history does not matter.

Mr. Slade—I tender as evidence inter alia on that point that the defendants have deliberately copied our trademark.

Sir Henry Berkeley—What my learned friend is attempting to open is called fraud. It has been laid down that if a charge of fraud is made at a trial, it shall be put forward clearly on the proceedings.

His Lordship—It is not a case of fraud.

Mr. Slade—Of fraudulent dealings. It is a fraud from beginning to end.

Sir Henry Berkeley—My friend is opening a new case of fraud. If there is one thing the Courts are particular and exact with respect to, it is that no man shall be called upon to answer a charge of fraud unless the allegations are made specifically on the pleadings.

His Lordship (to Mr. Slade) Supposing you were to establish a similarity to the satisfaction of the jury, how does that carry you any further?

Mr. Slade—It carries me a great deal further. A man in the trade gets a close imitation of the plaintiffs' mark. Why? Because he hopes to sell more goods by it.

His Lordship said he would charge the jury with reference to the question of intent, and asked Mr. Slade to proceed.

Mr. Slade stated that when there was an old established business selling Florida water under a particular mark, in a particular shaped bottle, and with labels put on in a particular way, it was not fair to imitate that style, and the law said it was unlawful. But this new and honest firm, this upright Chinese firm, sold their Florida water in this bottle (produced).

Sir Henry Berkeley again objected. His friend ought not to prejudice the jury by suggesting fraud when he did not plead it.

Mr. Slade—I said this honest and upright Chinese firm, in starting a new business, proceeded with a bottle which very much resembled ours. I am entitled to open with what I am going to prove to the jury.

Sir Henry Berkeley—This is simplifying in the face of the ruling of the Court. The Court has ruled that it (the bottle Mr. Slade again produced) is irrelevant.

His Lordship—I don't think that so far as the fraud question is concerned you are entitled to make any use of it. I shall have to direct the jury that they have to consider the other mark.

Mr. Slade—I respectfully insist on my right to open with the evidence I propose to call. If your Lordship rules that this bottle must not be shown to the jury, then there is an end of it. But I want a definite ruling on it.

His Lordship—That reopens the whole question.

Mr. Slade—If your Lordship will say I am not to refer to the question of user I will put an end to it.

His Lordship ruled that user was not material. Sir Henry Berkeley wished the bottle, which his Lordship had disallowed as an exhibit, to be removed from the table, but Mr. Slade declined to remove it.

Sir Henry Berkeley—I submit my friend is now bowing respect to your Lordship's ruling.

Mr. Slade—I obey his Lordship's ruling absolutely.

Sir Henry Berkeley—Then the bottle ought to be removed from the table.

Mr. Slade then informed the jurors that as he could not give them the total history of the case he would give them bits and leave them to guess the rest. This honest firm, he said, started a rival business to Messrs. Lanman and Kemp. There was a statement made in the other case—

Sir Henry Berkeley—My friend cannot open to the jury with what a witness is supposed to have said in cross-examination at the criminal trial.

Mr. Slade said he would call witnesses to prove that the defendants had applied to register the "T" mark, and that the application was refused. If Counsel succeeded in pointing out to the jurors the likeness between the bottles, and if it was possible that one could be mistaken for the other, then plaintiffs were entitled to the verdict. So great a resemblance in get-up and every particular could not be accidental. It was done deliberately by the defendants to improve their trade. The bottles were copied so that the defendants might get the trade which would otherwise go to Lanman and Kemp. Plaintiffs' mark was registered on February 15th, 1903.

Mr. Slade then quoted authorities in support of his contentions, evidence was opened and the hearing adjourned.

CONCERT IN THE DRILL HALL.

A very enjoyable concert was given in the Volunteer Drill Hall last night by the Band of the Cameron Highlanders, the programme being also contributed to by the pipers and by Mr. R. E. White. The selections by the band were of a most comprehensive character and were exquisitely rendered, encores being demanded. From the Scottish viewpoint perhaps the best features were the reel and the sword dance by the pipers, while equally delightful was the dancing of the Highland Fling by Miss Cissie Blake whose performance was neat and clever. The pipers stirred the audience as they entered the hall playing "The Cock o' the North" and they did come back again playing "Bonnie Dundee." Miss Parke was encored for her sweet singing of "Love's Garden" and complied with "Goodbye." Mr. R. E. White was in good voice and gave a fine rendering of "The Traumbeter," and had to respond to an encore. The concert was in aid of the renovation scheme of the Sailors and Soldiers Home.

"THE MERCHANT OF VENICE."

Last night the members of Mr. Bandmann's Company proved their versatility. They showed themselves just as much at home in serious drama as in light comedy, and it is no exaggeration to say that they gave a very fine interpretation of Shakespeare's great play: "The Merchant of Venice." Mr. Henry Dallas assumed the dignified role of Antonio the Merchant, and was ably supported by Mr. Douglas Vigors as Bassanio, while Mr. Charles Vane successfully undertook the difficult part of Shylock the Jew. Miss Blanche Forsythe made a capital Portia, speaking her lines with rare effect, and Jessica was sweetly portrayed by Miss Joan Hancock. The performance was very acceptable indeed, and it is regrettable that a larger audience was not present to enjoy the excellent production.

THE SOCIETY OF ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

We are requested by the Committee of the Society of St. Vincent de Paul to state for public information that the proceeds of the last Kermesse amounted to $1,700 net, and the Committee beg to thank H.E. the Governor for his distinguished patronage and presence at the Fête, as well as H.E. Sir General J. Machado, K.C.M.G., also all the ladies who had charge of the various stalls, and the gentlemen (members and non-members of the Society) who co-operated to make the Kermesse the thorough success it proved. The Committee also wish to thank Messrs. Graces and Co. for their artistic and beautiful souvenirs, to the Italian and French Convents for their magnificent presents, and to the Band of the Rajputa Regt. who greatly enlivened the proceedings of the Fête; in short, to all who in any way assisted.

The Committee beg to acknowledge with thanks the following further cash donations:—

BRICK TEA TRADE WITH TIBET.

A little time ago some interesting information regarding brick-tea was officially published, which it may be worth while to recall for use, if opportunity offers, in the trade with Tibet. There are, it appears, some three kinds of brick-tea prepared to suit the tastes of the different classes of customers in Central Asia, Russia, and Siberia. Two kinds of this tablet-tea are manufactured at Hankow for the Siberian and Russian markets, and are known as the large bricks and the small bricks. The large bricks are made by placing a quantity of common tea dust in a sort of pudding-cloth or bag, which is steamed for a few moments so as to cause it to adhere; this is then turned into wooden moulds, where it is beaten to the required consistency with wooden mallets. A more modern plan is to put the tea dust into an iron mould in which it is steamed and pressed. A large brick should weigh one and a half lbs., and the prime cost is said to be two pence half-penny a pound, so that a considerable profit can be made on it. The smaller bricks are of superior quality, and are made of only the finest and best tea dust. This tea dust is not steamed, but it is poured into steel moulds quite dry, and subjected to great hydraulic pressure. In this way the tea is bound to preserve its aroma and freshness for an indefinite time, and the retail price of these small bricks is never less than four shillings a pound. The original brick-tea of China was and is a more unsophisticated article. It is made of the whole leaf, stalk, and flower, as picked from the tea shrubs. These are well chewed by the native makers, and when they are thoroughly saturated with saliva, they are rolled up into balls and partly dried, after which they are placed in moulds and pressed into the form of bricks. This method of preparation does not sound very inviting, and it is said that the tea thus prepared acquires a slightly sour taste from the saliva, but it is much appreciated in Tibet and Siberia. The official writer stated that the trade in brick-tea is a strict monopoly of the Lamas, the priestly caste of Tibet, and that they are very jealous of any interference with what is to them a very profitable business.—Calcutta Englishman.

A Russian Consulate will soon be established at Hankow, the capital of Tonkin. This step has been taken in consequence of Russian merchant vessels calling more frequently at Haiphong, the chief port of the province. Another reason, says the Bele de Chine, lies in the increasing commercial importance of Tonkin, now that its railway system is so much extended.

THEIR SCALPS IN A DREADFUL STATE

Four Children Suffered a Year with Terrible Ringworm—Hair All Came Out in Patches Leaving Scalp Dry and Scaly—Grew Worse Under Various Treatments.

ALL CURED BY TWO SETS OF CUTICURA

"About eighteen months ago my four children had ringworm on the body and head. They were under the doctor's care over three months without any satisfactory result; in fact they got worse. Then we tried several other so-called remedies without effect. All the hair came off in patches and left the scalp dry and scaly. They were in a dreadful state. At last a friend persuaded me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I used the complete treatment, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent. I had two lots of each and before I finished the second lot they were completely cured. Now they have beautiful heads of hair, soft and glossy. I still continue to use the Cuticura Soap, which I find much superior to all other soaps for the head and skin. My children had been suffering for a year and months before I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I shall always recommend them to all who suffer from similar troubles. Edward S. Walker, 67 Oxford St., Leathersellers, London, Eng., Dec. 6, 1902."
